PRESENTATION: Jonahtan Kuester, Director of Wagner Farm

Jonathan provided some background about himself and talked about why he decided to take this step in his professional career. He described a professional career working in “living history” for 25 years. He further discussed that Historic Wagner Farms drew him in because it gave him the opportunity to tell the historic side, but also engage in the modern side of agriculture. Jonathan answered questions and communicated the following information: He indicated that they are in the process of planning for the next five years. He also communicated that Wagner Farm has “regional importance,” and is not just relevant to Glenview (Core from Glenview School District and Kids who come through Glenview Park District for camps).

If you have any suggestions for upcoming programs, please contact Kim Hand (seniors@glenview.il.us) or Jill Brickman (jillbrickman@twp.northfield.il.us).

Next month’s programming will involve a discussion about how District 34 is integrating bilingual families.
